Index

VOLUME XXXVIII, FALL, 1959–SUMMER, 1960

The volume pages are Fall, 1-112; Winter, 113-160; Spring 161-228; Summer, 229-264. (Authors are in bold face, titles, in italics.)

Abbott, Dorothy May, 27-28
Age of Education, The, 135-37
Ball, Edith, 28
Baxter, Bernice, 17-18
Biggy, M. Virginia, 30
Boller, Betty, 138
Can a Teacher Be Herself? 9-11
Capable Teachers versus Hollow Men, 230-35
Carey, Joan, 139-43
Chapter Research, 193-94
Cody, Martha J. Ballard, 183-87
Council Summary, 20-21
Dahlke, H. Otto, 127-34
Early, James, 179-82
Educational Books of 1959, 197-222
Entwisle, Doris Roberts, 138
Fellows, Pi Lambda Theta, 138
Fellowships, 155, 223-24, 258
Frank, Lawrence K., 121-26
Graham, Malbone Watson, 119-20
Griffith, Llewellyn O., 240-44
Gross, Neal, 173-78
Gyorgyey, Aladar F., 135-37
Hardy, Georgiana, 9-11
Harper, Lucille, 139-43
Hollander, Harriet, 188-92
Human Comedy and Education, The, 240-44
Invocation, Twenty-first Biennial Council, 3
Kandel, I. L., 114-18
Knowles, Lois, 20-21, 30-31
Let's Dream, 4-8
Lieberman, Myron H., 236-39
Ling, Shata L., 28-29
Margolin, Edythe, 253-55
Marshall, Daniel Waite, 230-35
Memory Lingers On, The, 245-52
McCord, William, 19
Morgan, Joy Elmer, 162
National Board Members, 24-31
No Humble Posts, 114-18
Olson, M. Adeline, 26-27
Osborn, Barbara L., 144-52
Parable of Teaching, A, 153-54
Peckham, Dorothy R., 245-52
Pi Lambda Theta Fellowship Reports, 144-52, 188-92
Portraits:
Abbott, Dorothy May, 24
Ball, Edith, 24
Biggy, M. Virginia, 24
Knowles, Lois, 24
Ling, Shata L., 24
Olson, M. Adeline, 24
Rose, Muriel A., 24
Shine, Roberta B., 24
Vopni, Sylvia, 24
President's Message, The, 22-23
President's Page, The, 195-96, 256-57
Proceedings of the Twenty-first Biennial Council, 33-109
Rivers, Elizabeth, 139-43
Roland, Jane, 138
Role of Educational Leadership, The, 236-39
Role of the Intellectual in America, The (Supplementary Remarks), 19
Role of the Teacher, The: To Mediatize, to Expedite, to Orient, 119-20
Rose, Muriel Anderson, 3, 29-30
Ryan, Elizabeth M., 153-54
Scharer, Norman B., 4-8
Shine, Roberta B., 26
Simmons, Evalyn McNiel, 183-87
Some Aspects of the Changing Roles of Teachers, 121-26
Some Organizational Forces Influencing the Role of the Teacher, 173-78
Teacher in a Context of Values, The, 127-34
Teachers Make Modern Turkey, 12-16
Teachers Role, The—with Sociological Implications, 253-55
Teaching in the Good Old Days, 32
Thoughts on the Current State of the College Teacher, 179-82
Tison, Jean Pieper, 183-87
Trask, Anne E., 173-78
Value Conflicts: the Teacher's Concern, 163-72

Vopni, Sylvia, 22-23, 25, 195-96, 256-57
What Is a Teacher? 162
White House Conference on Children and Youth, The 1960, 17-18
Why Are University Freshmen Considering Teaching as a Profession? (Part 2), 139-43
Why Are University Freshmen Selecting Teaching as a Profession? (Concluding Part), 183-87
Williams, Alma V. Armstrong, 163-72
Wilson, Howard E., 12-16

THE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY FELLOWSHIP FUND

Our Debt to the Past

Pi Lambda Theta, from its beginning through its fifty wonderful years, has been concerned with the intellectual life of women everywhere. We have a right to be proud of our past achievements, but as educated women we have a responsibility to the future.

Our fellowship program provides opportunities for women scholars to engage in advanced studies and research. In this fellowship program, we unite together in support of a project which embodies in a practical way our concern for scholarship and intellectual opportunities for women. Through past fellowships, the organization has assisted women with brilliant intellectual gifts to qualify for positions of responsibility.

The dedicated women who met together in Santa Barbara during August, 1959, formulated a plan whereby we might pay our debt to the past while declaring our faith in the future of Pi Lambda Theta. To those who studied the matter, there seemed to be no more fitting way to celebrate our fiftieth year than to participate in a fellowship fund-raising campaign, which they appropriately named the Fiftieth Anniversary Fellowship Fund.

Enthusiasm is growing as our members more and more feel the challenge of having a share in this unifying national project. It is a truly commendable project for we will be providing for "living fellowships" for capable women scholars. When you give to fellowships, you are contributing to something of enduring human value.

This is the year when each one of us has an additional responsibility to Pi Lambda Theta. Let us work to strengthen our concern for creative scholarship and opportunity for gifted women. There is challenging work to be done if our yearly goal of $6,000 is to be realized.

It is a privilege to join with other members of this association across this great land of ours in this Fiftieth Anniversary Fellowship Fund Drive. The time has come for ACTION. Please give generously to FAFF as individuals and chapters.

M. ADELINE OLSON, Treasurer

NS

ch-
83-